AMONG FRIENDS with Robert

Our annual Fall Festival will be later this afternoon from 5:30 p.m. to 7 p.m. We'll have a Mini Trunk-or-Treat in the parking lot, a light meal in the Activity Center with carnival games and lots of candy! This is a great alternative to traditional trick-or-treating that is safe for the whole family. We hope to see many of you here with friends and family. This is also a huge community outreach event that requires a ton of volunteers and workers. We appreciate all those who donated candy, money and time to serve during this event. We offer this event because we love our neighborhood, and believe in sharing the love of Christ with our friends, family and community. This is one small way for us to do just that.

There are many endeavors in life. We may go to work, school, a football game, movie, concert, or some other event. Each of these activities requires a certain amount of involvement, and when we involve ourselves in them, we commit to a certain level of participation. Some of these activities may be summarily dismissed because our involvement in them is minimal. Others require more involvement and participation. The more effort we put into the activity, the more we will get out of it in the long run. The greatest endeavor in which one may be involved is the Lord's church.

There are many, however, who look at the church as simply another opportunity like work, school, or a game. This, however, is not the Lord's view of the church. The church is the body of believers for which Christ died and shed His blood (Acts 20:28). He committed fully to her establishment, and he commits fully to her success. We must have the same level of commitment to the church if she is going to be successful. Lack of commitment to the church is one of the greatest threats to church unity.

A few years ago, a brother in Christ asked my opinion about where he ought to place his membership. He said that there was one congregation he was looking at that was small and didn't have a lot of resources. There was another congregation that was large and had many resources. My question to him was, "Where can you better serve the Lord?" In our day and time, religion is looked on as a cafeteria experience. Many have the attitude that they may shop around until they find a congregation that they like and are comfortable. This is not how we ought to think about our relationship to the body of Christ. Rather, our desire ought to be, "How may I best serve the Lord?"

Being a member of the body is not about comfort, ease, and safety. This notion would likely insult many early members of the Lord's church who endured severe persecution, suffered greatly, and even died for the Lord's cause. Jesus said, "If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow me." (Matt. 16:24) Having Christian unity demands that we do just this. Such unity is not superficial, but truly profound, where Christians may have deep abiding personal relationships based upon true knowledge of one another—not just upon the niceties of making acquaintance.

Unity is hard; it is an endeavor. Trying to find easy solutions to difficult problems never works out in the long run; this kind of attitude leads to the cafeteria mentality for churches. Strong and lasting relationships depend on our working out our differences according to God's pattern. May God help us to so do.
